VISIT TO HIGH SIERRAS SHOWS EDISON COMPANY HIT BY WATER SHORTAGE

Huntington Lake Far Below Normal; Many Streams Dry; Corporation Rushes Work on Tunnel to Increase Reservoir Capacity

Desiring to make personal investigation of conditions at the Big Creek and San Joaquin river development project of the Southern California Edison company, the corporation which supplies Glendale with its light and power, V. B. Stone, city manager, accompanied by two local newspapermen, Thursday night left for the High Sierra mountains, conducted a thorough inquiry, visited power houses, lakes, tunnels, dam sites, questioned company officials, secured pictures and blueprints and returned to Glendale yesterday morning.

City Manager Stone will, he stated upon his return, prepare a report for submission to the City Council. However, the investigation showed, among other facts, the following:

1. The declaration that there is a shortage of power is NOT propaganda. There is a decided shortage—and the Edison company is only one of many concerns in hydro-electric development facing the shortage.

2. Huntington lake, at an elevation of 6,950 feet, about seventy miles east of Fresno, where the Edison company has a water storage capacity of 88,900 acre feet, on July 4, 1924, contained but 17,527 acre feet of water. On July 4, 1923, the lake contained 87,761 acre feet. The maximum supply in the lake this year was 21,161 acre feet. That was on June 5.

3. The lake is sixty-seven feet lower this year than a year ago. Summer homes and resorts which in normal years are close to the lake's water line, are now a long walking distance away. Rowboats left tied to the shore are now stranded a quarter of a mile from the water. Normally, the lake is a beauty spot. Now it's unattractive because of one thing—lack of water. Brush is "sunburned." In normal times the lake is an ideal camping ground and many streams provide trout.

4. Streams that in normal times drain into the lake are dry. The streams that have not dried, provide a mere trickle in comparison with ordinary seasons. They do not begin to offset the water taken from the lake, even with the conservation program in effect. Only two small patches of snow could be seen on the Sierras' highest peaks. Vegetation that should be green is brown. Heavy rains expected in March and April failed to materialize, despite weather prophets and prayer. So the watershed, instead of filling the lake to near capacity, as in the past, this year provided about a quarter of the usual amount of water.

5. In normal seasons where there is ten to twenty feet of snow and the Edison company operates a team of dogs imported from Alaska to haul supplies, trucks this year drove over the ground. Each year the corporation makes surveys in the snow throughout the watershed to estimate the spring flow of water. It was early realized that the lake would not have its usual quota. Arrangements were at once made to secure auxiliary steam plants. The warning of a water shortage was sent out and many thousands of dollars expended to meet the emergency. Contracts were secured with other power companies to care for the anticipated shortage. And then it was hoped that spring rains would be heavy enough to make up for the lack of snow—in part, at least. But the rains were comparatively light. Demands for power increased. Other companies were unable to supply the Edison company with the power contracted for—because of the water shortage. The power shortage increased until it has become statewide. The conservation program is general—and because it is the driest year recorded, a sort of prohibition law enforced by nature.

So, because of the water shortage and the increased power demands, the conservation program became necessary. The State Railroad commission placed electric power companies under the direction of a power conservationist and the people asked to save on lights and power in order that, so far as possible, industries may

Klan to Parade And Hold Public Debate on Issue

MARYSVILLE, Cal., July 8.—In the first public demonstration in this part of the state, 2500 Ku Klux Klansmen will parade the streets of this city in full regalia of their order, but without mask, July 26, and conduct a public initiation at the municipal ball grounds following a debate on "Resolved, that the Ku Klux Klan is a menace to good government."

Claude V. Biggs, editor of the Wheatland, issued the challenge for the debate and will take the affirmative, a Klan representative opposing him.

Fred Hauss, exalted cyclops of the Klan in Yuba and Sutter counties, appeared before the City Council last night and secured permission for the parade and use of the ball grounds.

City Manager Stone will, he stated upon his return, prepare a report for submission to the City Council. However, the investigation showed, among other facts, the following:

U.S.C. ENTRY SCORES IN SHOT PUT

Stars and Stripes Float as Houser, Hubbard Finish in First Places

COLOMBES STADIUM, France, July 8.—Winning two finals in today's track and field events of the Olympic games, America's sterling athletes increased their point lead over Finland, their most dangerous rival.

Clarence "Bud" Houser, University of Southern California youth, took the shot-put and the Stars and Stripes were run up on the Olympic flagpole.

The Stars and Stripes were run up the Olympic flagpole for the second time today in token of an American victory when Dehart Hubbard, University of Michigan star, won the broad jump with a mighty leap. Ned Gourdin, former Harvard athlete, and predecessor to Bob Legendre as world's record-holder, was second. The two added 15 points to the American total.

Briton Wins Race

Lowe of Great Britain was the first winner to flash in today's Olympics when he raced a fast field off its feet in the final of the 800-metre run and won in the fine time of 1 minute, 52 and 2-5 seconds.

Martin of Switzerland was second and S. C. Enck, Penn State, third. Stallard, Great Britain, finished fourth, with William B. Richardson, Stanford, fifth, and Ray Dodge, Oregon Aggies, sixth. The result was a keen disappointment to the American camp followers, for the United States picked up but seven points.

Close to Record

Lowe ran the fastest race since James E. Meredith established the world's record in Sweden in 1912, in order to shake off the fine string of American middle distance men and his own countrymen. Martin of Switzerland, who showed unexpected speed in coming to the tape second, Lowe's time of 1:52 2-5 is only a fraction of a second slower than Meredith's record mark of 1:51 9-10.

All made a good effort in the last sixty yards and Lowe and Martin got out in front, closely pressed by Richardson and Enck. The Americans failed to catch the flying Europeans.

The Americans in the stands got their first opportunity to cheer when Dehart Hubbard, University of Michigan negro, won the broad jump with a leap of 24 feet, 6 inches.

The Americans not only won these two events in decisive fashion, but scored heavily in points.

Following Houser in the shot-put were Glenn Hartnutt of Leland Stanford and Ralph Hills of Princeton. Torpo of Finland was fourth, but Norman Anderson of

SEEKS INJUNCTION

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—An amended petition for a permanent injunction was filed with the county clerk today to restrain the city of Sie, a Madre from enforcing its zoning ordinance against the Mountain Glen Healthatorium, which has been located on Churchill avenue for the last four years.

It is believed that the Hi-Way Display company will ask for a temporary injunction, which, if issued, will have to be settled by trial, at which time the billboard company may ask for a permanent injunction, according to Mr. Tarr.

Rearrest Dorris and Cancel $50,000 Bail

LONG BEACH, July 8.—Charles William Dorris, wealthy real estate operator, was held incommunicado in jail here today while detectives attempted to link tighter around him evidence in connection with the death of his wife, Theresa, and his business associate, Henry D. Meyer, Pasadena millionaire.

Dorris was rearrested and the $50,000 bail, on which he has been free, cancelled pending the uncovering of what was believed to be vital evidence in solving the strange murder mystery.

Revenge for Robbery Motive for Shooting

NEEDLES, July 8.—Jose Frosto lies in a hospital here today with five bullets in his body, and H. Y. Miller, who admits the shooting, is held by authorities waiting the outcome of Frosto's injuries. Miller told the officers that a year ago four men beat and robbed him, leaving him to die. One of the men, he claims, was

PRESIDENT'S HEAD BOWS IN GRIEF

Calvin Coolidge, Jr., Will Be Interred in Vermont Cemetery Friday

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The White House today became just an ordinary home where death has entered and taken away one of the loved ones from the family circle.

Bowed down by grief and sorrow, the president and Mrs. Coolidge, who spent a sleepless night following their return to the executive mansion shortly after the death of their "baby boy," Calvin, Jr., at Water Reid hospital at 10:30 p. m., began preparations for the funeral.

The body of their son, who was stricken down after a miraculous battle against blood poisoning, was brought back to the White House at dawn and placed in the historic east room.

It was tentatively planned to have the funeral services of the most simple character at the White House, probably tomorrow. The desire of both the president and Mrs. Coolidge is to avoid anything in the nature of a state funeral.

Burial at Plymouth

Burial will take place in the cemetery at Plymouth, Vt., among the president's forebears.

Grief over the death of the president's son was not confined to the White House. The entire capital has joined the presidential family during the past five days in hoping and praying for the boy's recovery.

Thousands of expressions of sympathy reached the White House last night and today. Many, of course, were official communications from foreign capitals and officials in this country and many were heartfelt messages of mothers and fathers throughout the land who hastened to express their sorrow at the sudden death of the president's youngest son.

Neither Calvin, Jr., nor his 18-year-old brother, John, had a wide circle of intimate friends in Washington, in view of the fact that

Fishing Boat Sinks In Collision at Sea

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—Rammed by the Angella, her sister ship, the fishing vessel New Harbor, sank ten miles off Point Loma, endangering the lives of thirty men and with a loss of several thousand dollars' worth of fishing gear, according to a report made to San Pedro shipping officials today.

LONDON, July 8.—The American round-the-world flyers reached Bagdad this afternoon, completing another leg of their journey, according to a dispatch from Bagdad tonight.

SEEKS PLOT TO DESTROY SCHOOL PROPERTY

SACRAMENTO, July 8.—Declaring that with the destruction of the Woodland grammar school last night more than $1,000,000 worth of school property had been destroyed by fire thus far this year, Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, today sent a bulletin to all local school boards urging that a rigid guard be maintained over school buildings. Wood asserted in his bulletin that he believed the series of school fires were of incendiary origin and asked that watchmen be employed to halt depredations of arsonists.

SENATOR SHORTRIDGE IS EN ROUTE HOME

SAN DIEGO, July 8.—Senator Samuel M. Shortridge arrived here today from Washington and will leave tomorrow for his home at San Francisco. The senator left New York on June 27, a guest of John D. Spreckels aboard the latter's steam yacht Venetia. The party learned on July 1 when they reached Miami of the death of A. B. Spreckels at San Francisco, brother of John D. Spreckels, whereupon Mr. Spreckels and Senator Shortridge abandoned their proposed cruise through the canal and en-trained for California. Mr. Spreckels will accompany the senator to San Francisco, where he will assist in settling his brother's $50,000,000 estate.

Pass Resolution Of Condolence at Democratic Meet

NEW YORK, July 8.—Convention delegates were still and all political business sidetracked for a few moments today at Madison Square Garden when the announcement of the death of Calvin Coolidge, Jr., was made.

After the prayer, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise presented, on behalf of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Governor Smith's manager, a resolution of sympathy and condolence for the president and Mrs. Coolidge, in the death of their son, Calvin Coolidge, Junior.

"This convention gathers here this morning," said the resolution, "under the shadow of the grief that has come to the home of the chief magistrate of the nation. Together with all our fellow Americans we bow our heads in sympathy and bereavement."

The resolution was adopted by a rising vote.

BRITISH ARMADA REACHES HARBOR

Officers and Crews of Seven Vessels Welcomed at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—San Francisco began a round of entertainment today for the officers and crew of the British fleet which is in San Francisco bay on a four-days' visit, the first time in fifty years England's men of war have entered a continental port of the United States.

The majestic bulk of H. M. S. Hood, largest warship afloat, was a source of never-ending wonder to the tens of thousands of residents and visitors from all parts of the state that have thronged the waterfront since it slid through the Golden Gate.

The entrance of the armada of seven vessels into the bay was the signal for one of the most impressive welcomes ever given a foreign power in California.

Filipino Scouts Back On Duty After Strike

MANILA, July 8.—Ninety per cent of the 600 Filipino scouts of the 57th infantry who went on strike yesterday had returned to duty today.

The balance face dishonorable discharge as a result of their disaffection. The Filipino soldiers attached to the 12th medical regiment struck this morning, but most of them were persuaded to return to duty.

There has been no unrest at Fort Stotsenberg and Fort Mills, although airplanes are establishing a close liaison as a precautionary measure.

Short Circuit Cause Of Blaze, Is Belief

Fire at 1 o'clock today threatened the house of Mrs. Loretta W. Greenmeyer at 1251 South Orange street but did practically no damage, the blaze being extinguished before the arrival of the fire department. A wire carpet hung over an electric switch in the hall is believed by firemen to have caused the short circuit resulting in the blaze.

Livestock Expert Is Guest of Niece Here

SIX MORE BALLOTS FAIL TO BREAK DEADLOCK AND LEADERS OBTAIN RECESS

Unless Nomination Results Tonight, Delegates To Be Kept in Continuous Session Until Agreement Reached, Is Proposal Now

BULLETIN

NEW YORK, July 8.—Tom Taggart announces Ralston refuses to run.

NEW YORK, July 8.—"I think we will nominate tonight. It looks very hopeful to me. Both sides have shown exceptionally good spirit."

This statement was made here shortly before 5 o'clock this afternoon by Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention, after he had talked with William G. McAdoo and George E. Brennan, the opposing forces in the McAdoo-Smith deadlock that has tied up the Democratic nomination for ninety-three ballots.

NEW YORK, July 8.—After taking six more ballots, making ninety-three in all, in a futile attempt to nominate a candidate for the presidency, the Democratic national convention adjourned here at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon until 9 o'clock tonight to give the leaders another chance to get together and work out some agreement.

Both McAdoo and Smith leaders bespoke their willingness from the platform to get together and try to find a way out of the impasse that has blocked any progress in any direction for more than a week.

While the expectation of a conference between the Smith people and McAdoo people was general when the convention recessed, George E. Brennan threw some water on the fire, saying that what he feared was a damper on the proceedings after he had talked an hour with Governor Smith at the Manhattan club.

Stays with Smith

"We are going to keep right on balloting for Al Smith," said the Illinois boss. "I'm looking for no compromise. I am satisfied with the results to date."

Charles M. Hay, vice-chairman of the Missouri delegation, and a McAdoo leader, also spoke in favor of the move. He declared that the situation had become one in which the floor in Madison Square Garden was so cluttered with presidential lightning rods it was impossible to get around through the aisles.

The leaders planned to get together late this afternoon and make a strenuous effort to get together on a candidate or a plan to end the deadlock.

Drive for Ralston

Adjournment came at the climax of a drive that had been in progress for four ballots for Senator Samuel M. Ralston of Indiana. He moved up to third place, behind Smith and McAdoo, by corraling a total of 196 1/2 votes on the ninety-third ballot. This was considerably in excess of what any other favorite son candidate had been able to produce in the scores of ballots to date.

Governor Smith, while maintaining his lead over McAdoo, was unable to materially increase it. At adjournment Smith had 355 1/2 votes, as compared with McAdoo's 314.

The adjournment move came from Brennan, the Illinois boss, and leader of the anti-McAdoo faction. He declared that "Democrats at home" are beginning to look to this convention to do something and do it quick, and he thought the best way to go about it was to cease this endless balloting and afford a period of further conferences between the leaders.

May Be Continuous

The McAdoo delegates were yelling their opposition to this when the McAdoo leaders motioned them down. One, Bruce Krenier, floor manager for the California candidate, seconded Brennan's move. He said that if the convention would only recess until 9 o'clock tonight he believed it would be possible to work out something.

"And if it doesn't," he continued dramatically, "I for one will favor keeping this convention in continuous session until we nominate a candidate for the presidency."

McAdoo Falls Behind

The field of candidates for the presidential nomination widened out in the Democratic convention today on the eighty-eighth ballot. William G. McAdoo dropped to a new low level with only 315 1/2 votes, while Governor Al Smith steadily held his lead at 362.

North Carolina switched to her favorite son, Josephus Daniels; Kansas and Iowa both voted for favorite sons, while Senator Ralston maintained his last night's pace of 97 votes.

After the result of the 93rd ballot had been announced, Frank C. Davis of San Antonio, made a motion from the floor that further Dunlap, notorious badge bandit captured in Detroit by Detective Sergeant John Burns last Saturday night while he was supposedly preparing to stage another job in a small notions store.

TOURISTS BACK INTO SOUTHLAND

Autos, Trains, Highways
Pour Thousands Daily
Into Favored Regions

By GIL A. COWAN
For Southland News Service,
LOS ANGELES, July 8.—The semi-annual crop of tourists are arriving in the southland by the hundreds each day. The summer tourists come not alone in train-loads, but afoot and in motorcars, mostly the latter way.
Of course, the railroads report of numerous arrivals with the lower rates, but it is the influx by day that counts and you will find them at the beaches, in the mountains—from everywhere.
The exceptional cases of those arriving by foot are chronicled in the news columns, two boys having their way from New Jersey in eighteen days. At that they only walked 800 miles of the distance, motorists giving them
"lifts" over the hardest territory to traverse.
A motor ride over the southland during the holiday revealed to the writer the large number of "out of state" visitors. They are a legion. And more are coming, they report, now that restrictions on motor travel are off.

although Alaska reds are quoted at $1.50 a dozen, compared with

RUPTURE EXPERT HERE

F. H. Seelye of Chicago and Philadelphia, the noted truss expert, will personally be at the Green Holtel, and will remain in Pasadena
Wednesday night, July 9, from 9:30
A. M. till 4:30 P. M. Mr. Seelye says: "The Spermatic Shield will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case.
Being a vast advancement over all former methods—employing instead of a business demands pre-strain or position no matter the size of local or distant rupture, or incisional ruptures (following operations) specially solited. This instrument is the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injections, medical treat-

All cases should be cautioned against the use of any elastic or

PETITIONS WOULD ASK ANNEXATION

Sewer Situation Is Factor
In Causing Burbank to Summon Election

BURBANK, July 8.—This city is again considering annexation to Los Angeles. A number of petitions have been presented to the City Trustees, asking that an election be called for this purpose. The sewer problem seems to be the crux of the matter.
Plans are now under way to obtain a temporary sewage disposal plant that will last Burbank for several years. It is believed by some that by annexation to Los Angeles there could be no hope for a connection with the outfall sewer inside five years, while others contend that it would come sooner than this and thus avoid the expensive temporary measures now under way.
Over Sewer Contract
The controversy has been brought to a head by letting of the sewer contract by the City Trustees, the James C. O'Connell company of Los Angeles winning the award, at a figure of $214,451.65, this expense to cover the following: Labor, material and equipment required for the construction of the sewage treatment plant at the sewer farm, with all appurtenances, complete; labor, material and equipment for three pumping or booster plants, one on Flower street near the Libby cannery; one on Varney not far from the McKee cannery and the third at Scott road and San Fernando boulevard; the main or trunk line in the assessment district which is the section most closely built up, and also, the laterals for the down-town section. In the large assessment district, just mentioned, all property owners will be prorated for the disposal plant;
the booster plants and the main line for the sewage, but only those who will receive the benefit of the laterals in the down-town district, will be assessed for them.
No one will be assessed for inter-als they do not use.

COMMENT That's All

Again the Nation Mourns
Democrats in Quandary
Superior News Service
Wanted: Two Good Bridges
By Gil A. Cowan

The nation mourns today for Calvin Coolidge, Jr., son of President and Mrs. Coolidge who passed away last night at the Walton Reid General hospital. A youth in his teens this summer the final summons after a splendid fight against the fatal poisoning which took from loving parents a boy who was much to be admired.
Words fail to express the sympathy of a people in its condolence for the saddened occupants of the White House, particularly that lonely brother who survives.
It is the second death in America's official first family during the year, the late President Harding having passed into the great beyond last summer.

The Democrats are still at it in New York. With McAdoo's stock falling rapidly last night it would appear that a solution to the deadlock is imminent. But who will be the candidate? That is the question to be settled today or tomorrow.
With some interests advocating Senator Walsh, with Wall Street still tenaciously holding out for Glass or Ralston, with Smith and McAdoo still fighting—who will it be? We ask to know.

The Glendale Evening News has been indeed fortunate to give complete and accurate accounts of the political events this year. Not alone has the International News Service covered the events day by day, but Consolidated Press with David Lawrence and Robert T.
Small and others have given readers of this newspaper the "inside information."

And Central Press Association with its illustrations and cartoons by Bushnell has added to the galaxy of talent found only in a complete and metropolitan newspaper.

Glendale should take necessary steps to have Los Angeles see the importance of having both sides of Glendale boulevard to a wide commensurate with the traffic.
Further, this city should work for a bigger and better bridge across Los Angeles river on the same boulevard.

The present structure is a disgrace, so is the Los Feliz bridge.
Both should be replaced by something permanent before a serious accident occurs, for if the bridge is any judge both bridges are in a dangerous condition.
And that's that.

CHANGES MADE AT MOON CAR AGENCY

Penn Motor Company Firm's
New Name; W. G. Rawls
Sells His Interest

Oscar Penn has recently purchased the interest of W. G. Rawls in the Penn-Rawls Motor company at 510 East Broadway, and the name of the firm will be changed to the Penn Motor company, according to an announcement by Mr. Penn today. The sales manager of the firm had wide experience in the automobile business.
He was connected with the Packard Auto company in Detroit and just before coming to Glendale, three years ago, was employed by the Gamble Motor company of Toledo, Ohio, distributors of Pierce
Arrow and Peerless motor cars.

In discussing the Moon car, for which the Penn company is the Glendale distributor, Mr. Frazier declared that the units used in it, make the Moon the best buy on the market for the price. Some of the standard units used in the Moon car are the Red Seal Continental motor, Delco lighting and ignition, Exide battery, Timken bearings throughout, Borg & Beck clutch, Timken hydraulic brakes, and many others. These standard parts are all manufactured by experts in their line and insure excellent service for Moon owners.
The firm feels that it was fortunate in securing Warren Deuel as service manager. He has been in the business for fifteen years and formerly handled Marmon service in Arizona. As a race driver, he has considerable experience on both road and track. The shop is being equipped to handle repair work on Marmon, Moon and other makes of cars.

Opens Millinery Store With Varied Stocks

Mrs. C. B. Brooks has re-opened the millinery store formerly occupied by the Gilbert Millinery Shop at 123 North Brand boulevard, and is displaying an attractive stock of hats for women and misses. She is extending an invitation to Glendale women to visit her shop and inspect the new styles being shown.
Mrs. R. S. Dewey, who has been placed in charge of the shop, is an experienced milliner, and will be glad to exhibit the latest thing in hats to anyone visiting the shop. The Brooks' shop will feature attractive hats at popular prices.

Meat eating has increased in fact that British soldiers were

Messages of Sympathy Over

both had been in school almost ever since their parents have occupied the White House.
With his older brother, Calvin was spending a brief vacation at the White House before entering a citizens' military training camp.
While playing tennis with his brother on the White House grounds last Monday, Calvin blistered one of the toes of his right foot. He applied some simple remedy and thought no more about it. The next day his foot and then both his legs began to give him considerable pain.
When the pain began to spread into his body, he consulted his parents who called the White House physicians. Their examination indicated septic poisoning and treatment was begun. It was not until July 4, however, that the public was advised of the boy's condition.

Surgeons Operate

From noon of the Fourth he grew steadily worse and was finally taken on Saturday evening to Walter Reed hospital for an operation.
With his father and mother at his bedside and a half dozen blood specialists and surgeons enlisted in the battle, Calvin made a brave and determined fight to live. His courage and strength in the face of certain death were a marvel to the physicians.
He rallied again and again with the result that hopes were expressed yesterday morning that he would recover.

Body Will Rest In Plymouth, Vt., Cemetery

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Calvin Coolidge, Jr., son of the president, will be buried at 4 o'clock
Thursday afternoon at Plymouth, Vt. It was announced at the White House this afternoon.

Funeral services will be held at the executive mansion at 4 p. m.
tomorrow and at Northampton, Mass., at 10 a. m. Thursday. The funeral train will leave here at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

Calvin was born in Northampton, Mass., on April 13, 1898. He completed the grammar grades when he was 11 years old, attended the Northampton high school for two years and then entered Mercersburg academy in Pennsylvania.

Calvin had grown rapidly in the last two years and was consequently frail physically. He was five feet, eleven inches tall—an inch taller than his father—and weighed 115 pounds.

Calvin Coolidge, Jr., was the first son of a president to die in Washington since Tad Lincoln passed away in his father's arms at the White House in 1863.

MARKET TO OPEN ON SOUTH BRAND

Henry Guasti Takes 7-Year
Lease; Other Stores
To Be Included

The opening of a new market at 214 South Brand boulevard, in the building recently completed by W. E. Evans and Mrs. J. G. Huntley, is announced by Henry Guasti, who has taken a seven-year lease on the entire building, through the agents, Gilhuly & Russell, 212 South Brand boulevard.

Mr. Guasti will conduct the meat market himself, bringing to his work the experience gained through years of similar work in Los Angeles. All meats, he says, will be U. S. inspected as a guarantee of quality, and only the best of everything will be carried in stock.

The grocery department has been leased to E. A. Morrison, an important chain store grocery organization, and there will also be fruit and vegetable departments, a soda fountain and a lunch counter, delicatessen, and a candy and cigar counter.

The bakery that will form a leading part of the new market,
Mr. Guasti says, is now operating with a force of four men and has a capacity of over 500 loaves of bread daily.

The formal opening date has been set for Saturday, July 12, when an orchestra will render a musical program during the day and when special attractions will be provided for the guests.

Speaker Will Discuss Radio at Church Meet

subject discussed Friday night at thing in talks to the audience of the church, of which C. J. Burnham is president. The public is in-

The Postmaster General of Ausyear all telephones applied for previously to last January, which will leave uninstalled only those

We are taking applications for loans on improved property and for building. These loans run for 12 years. BABE IS FATALLY BURNED IN BLAST

Doctors Abandon Hope for Child of 3; Father,
Injured, Will Live

C. E. Brain of 428 Salem street made a valiant effort to save the life of "Baby" Fitzpatrick, 3-year-old son of L. R. Fitzpatrick of Lankershim, following a gasoline tank explosion at 8:45 o'clock last night, near Roscoe, on San Fernando Road.

Returning to Glendale from Ventura, where he had been on business, Mr. Brain saw a Gordon & Harrison truck in flames. Stopping his car, he found Mr. Fitzpatrick badly burned around the face and chest, and his baby son almost burned to a crisp but still living.

Mr. Brain helped them both into his car and rushed them to the Thompson hospital in Burbank, where it is reported this morning that Mr. Fitzpatrick will live, though there is no hope for his little son.

The explosion resulted from a break in the gas line, according to Mr. Brain.

Special Rail Rates to G. A. R. Encampment

Mrs. Priceilla Houdyshel of 308 North Orange street, department press correspondent for the local G. A. R. and W. R. C., has just received information concerning railroad rates to the national encampment August 10 to 20, in Boston, Mass.

Members and families of all patriotic organizations are to be able to purchase round trip tickets for the price of a regular one-way fare. These tickets will be good until October 1. Mrs. Houdyshel states that this round trip rate is $113.57.

Before tickets can be secured from August 4 to 11 it is necessary to secure certificates.

Flood Control Bonds Worth $5,000,000 Sold

The Board of Supervisors yesterday sold $5,000,000 worth of the bonds that were recently authorized for flood control, out of the total of $35,300,000, to a syndicate headed by the National City Investment company of San Francisco. The bonds, which draw 5 per cent interest, brought a premium of $129,300, which will, it is stated, reduce the rate of interest slightly. The bonds mature serially and are secured by the entire assessed valuation of the district in which the protection is to be afforded.

Announcement will be made shortly, it is stated, regarding the projects on which the funds derived from the sale of this unit of the bonds will be expended.

Edwin S. Beggs of the Motor Sales company, 406 East Colorado boulevard, Franklin agents, returned yesterday afternoon from Big Pine and Palisade glacier, near Bishop, after a five-day fishing trip with Herman Harms of Los Angeles.

Palisade glacier is one of the wonders of California, according to Mr. Beggs, being the second largest in the United States. It is at the rear of Mount Alice, and contains a crevasse 500 feet deep. Mr. Beggs states that the road is good all the way up and safe enough for even an amateur to drive.

ANNIVERSARY OF CHURCH OBSERVED

Founding of First Baptist
In 1904 Is Celebrated
With Services

Appropriate services in celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the First Baptist church and of the fifth anniversary of the pastorate of Ernest E. Ford were held Sunday morning at the church with Associate Pastor Charles H. Tilden presiding. In his message to the congregation, Rev. Ford expressed his appreciation for the loyal support and delightful fellowship that had been his, and said that the five years spent with the Glendale church had been most delightful years of service because of their love and helpfulness.

Following Rev. Ford's talk, greetings were extended by each department. Rev. Eugene Haines told of the early days in his talk, "Former Years." Roy L. Kent presided at the anniversary program held in the evening, with F. E. Sanders, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; John D. Fraser, chief of police; Rev. J. B. Fox, superintendent of the Los Angeles City Mission society, and David Foster Estes, D. D., one-time professor at Colgate university, taking part.

The church was organized on July 5, 1904, with twenty-two members. Of these, J. M. Banker is the only one now remaining with the church. The total membership at the present time is 731. The Sunday school began in the same year with two classes and twenty pupils, and now has thirty-four classes with 600 pupils. Roy L. Kent, Sunday school superintendent, has served in that capacity for ten years.

Plans have been outlined for the construction of a new church building to cost $175,000, and a committee of twenty-five, appointed to select a date for the start of construction work, has recommended that building operations begin about Thanksgiving Sunday, November 29, 1924.

Elks Will Initiate At Huntington Park

Plans were made last night at the meeting of Glendale Elks in the clubhouse on East Colorado street to journey to Huntington Park Friday night, July 18, to have charge of the initiatory work there.

The band will accompany the Glendale delegation and, with a large class of candidates assembled by the Park lodge, the affair promises to be of great interest.

At the local meeting last night there were 200 Elks in attendance. A concert by the lodge band was enjoyed for an hour and a half. Later a "feed" was participated in by those present.

President Radke urges the attendance of every member.

Fire Prevention to Occupy C. C. Directors

The regular weekly meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock, will be devoted largely to the plans for the organization of a fire fighting organization to combat the menace of forest and brush fires in the region immediately adjacent to Glendale. Reports of the fire prevention and flood control committee and reports on the formation of various units among civic organization and service clubs will be heard.

—Everybody in town
will be watching Wednesday's papers!

They will tell the story of 9 o'clock
Thursday morning!

With one of the largest and most modern asphalt paving plants in the world in operation in Glendale, this city is reaping the benefit of the tremendous paving program that has been launched this year throughout Los Angeles county and other Southern California territory.

Because of favorable industrial factors, excellent living conditions and other features that make Glendale attractive, this city was selected for the big model asphalt paving plant for the manufacture of National Pavement, located in the northwestern section of Glendale on the Union Pacific, operated by Heuser-Packard & Thompson for the manufacture of National Pavement.

This industry gives Glendale an additional payroll of more than $130,000 per year, exclusive of a big fleet of trucks, necessary to the operation of the plant.

This new plant for National Pavement has attracted a great deal of attention among paving engineers all over the country, inasmuch as it is said to be one of the most unique and original asphalt paving plants ever erected. When the National Pavement Co. decided upon Glendale for the erection of its model plant, after which it is to be patterned the other plants of the company in Southern California, T. A. Garrow, chief mechanical engineer for the National Pavement Co., personally designed the Glendale plant and incorporated therein some of the most original and advanced features ever put into an asphalt paving institution.

The drying drum of this plant is the largest of its kind in use today, and it is through this drum that all the aggregate passes that is used in the surface and the base for National Pavement. This drum is 36 feet long. The plant is so designed that a monster suction fan draws all escaping dust to a central point and deposits this dust in a dust house of original design, thereby eliminating the nuisance of flying dust in the vicinity of the plant and also eliminating the loss of material. This dust house, together with the arrangement of fans and other features, are Mr. Garrow's own designs.

An interesting fact regarding the plant concerns the oil used. The Glendale plant has taken to date the entire output of the Union Oil company's newly completed asphalt refinery at Wilmington. Something of the tremendous capacity of the National Pavement company's Glendale plant may be realized in the fact that the plant operating to full capacity turns out 750 tons of material a day. This material is not only used on the work the company is doing in Glendale, which embraces the completed paving on Glendale avenue and the National Pavement being laid on Colorado street, and which is to be laid on the Sycamore Canyon road, but National Pavement turned out by the Glendale plant will be used extensively on other paving jobs the National Pavement company is putting in elsewhere in Los Angeles county, within reasonable hauling distance of this plant.

The model plant established in Glendale by the National Pavement company, embodying its does original and advanced features, is one of the results of the many years' experience of the National Pavement company, and the success and wearing qualities of National Pavement, as demonstrated over a long period of years where this pavement has been in constant and heavy use under vigorous conditions in eastern cities.

Campers Return From Holiday at Laguna

J. H. Shafe of the Shafe Stationery company returned yesterday afternoon with his wife and child from a four days' camping trip to Laguna Beach. Leaving early Thursday morning, they arrived at the beach before the Fourth of July crowds and secured an advantageous camp site. Mr. Shafe reports that the holiday crowds at the resort far overtaxed the accommodations and that hundreds were turned away.

Another camping party from Glendale that spent the holiday at the beach was composed of H. L. Finlay of 500 Pioneer drive, and family. They went by automobile to Laguna Thursday and returned Sunday afternoon. The Glendale people tried their luck at fishing off the rocks, but declare that there were four people to each fish, after the first day.

BIDS ON CANYON ROADWAY OPENED

Contractor of Pasadena Is Lowest on Improvement;
Award Next Week

The contract for the construction of a twenty-foot concrete driveway in Sycamore canyon will probably be awarded next week by the members of the county Board of Supervisors, following the opening of bids on the work yesterday. The bids were referred to the county engineer for investigation and recommendation. J. B. West, a contractor of Pasadena, was the lowest bidder, it was reported, his bid being for $14,935. The specifications call for a roadway twenty feet wide, with five-inch shoulders. Such a roadway, it is said, will materially lessen the danger from flood waters in that vicinity.

Construction work will start within a few days after the contract is awarded, it is said. The supervisors are expected to decide the matter next Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. Tinning On Visit to Glendale

Rev. and Mrs. Louis Tinning of San Juan Capistrano were in Glendale this morning, greeting old friends. The Tinnings formerly lived here, while Mr. Tinning was associate pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church.

It was Mr. Tinning's first visit to The Glendale Evening News office since the enlargement of the plant and he visited all departments with keen interest. The Tinnings are enjoying living in the old mission town and Mr. Tinning states that his church work is developing in a most promising way.

PREDICT NEEDED BONDS MAJORITY

Early Voting for Library
$47,000 Project Light;
Polls Close 7 P. M.

Although a comparatively light vote had been cast up to noon today in the special municipal election on the $47,000 library bond issue, it is believed by T. W. Preston, chairman, and other members of the board that the bonds will get the two-thirds necessary to carry. It is expected a heavier vote will be cast during the closing hours.

The polls opened at 6 o'clock this morning and will be closed at 7 o'clock tonight. There are eight special precincts, made by consolidating the regular precincts established by the Board of Supervisors.

Voters who desire any information regarding the location of polling places, or what special precinct they are in, can secure this information by calling the library or the city clerk's office. Transportation may be secured by calling Glendale 2853.

The returns from the various polling places will be furnished to The Glendale Evening News tonight as fast as the votes can be counted, and those who wish to learn the results can do so by calling Glendale 4000 about an hour after the closing of the polls.

Ore Shipping on Lake Is Showing Decrease

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 8.—Ore shipments so far this season on the lakes have totaled 14,827,128 tons, a decrease of 1,358,354 tons compared with this time last year. It is estimated that shipments for the season will reach only 45,000,000 tons, or 14,000,000 less than in 1923. Seventy freighters now are idle.

Virginia to Produce Big Wheat, Oat Crops

RICHMOND, July 8.—Virginia this year is expected to produce 8,871,000 bushels of wheat, according to an estimate by H. M. Taylor, state crop statistician. Oats will be a bumper crop, acreage exceeding 170,000, but the outlook for corn is poor.

Protect Your Valuables

There is a prevailing idea the Safe Deposit Vaults are intended only for people of large means; this is a mistake, however, as persons in moderate circumstances need protection as much, if not more, than the wealthy, and we extend the same courtesy to the renter of the smallest Safe Deposit Box as we do to the renter of a larger one, all of our patrons having access to our vaults as often as they choose.

A Safe Deposit Box affords you absolute protection at a trifling cost. Our smallest box will fully protect property worth many thousands of dollars.

When you think it over, there is but one conclusion—you should procure a Safe Deposit Box, and get it without delay.

A good sized box can be rented in our Burglar and Fire-Proof Vault for $3.50 per year and upwards.

Consult us about it to-day; before something happens.

Daily Greeting To News Readers

Still, still with Thee, when purple morning breaketh,
When wake the birds, and all the shadows flee;
Fairer than morning, lovelier than the daylight,
Dawns the sweet consciousness, I am with Thee.
—Harriet Beecher Stowe.

NEATNESS AND ACCURACY

Children today are taught a multiplicity of accomplishments but neatness and exactness are not in the curriculum. It would seem better for a child to learn to do one thing well than to do a great many things in a slipshod way. Accuracy is an accomplishment in itself and means so much in after life. The child can learn other things as the need and opportunity arise but, if in his youth he learns slackness, he will find it a difficult thing to unlearn.

The average boy and girl of high school age cannot be depended upon to do any work neatly and well. They have no ideal of perfection. They are satisfied with any effort that "gets by." The aim is not to do the best they can, but to do it "just well enough."

A business college training instills habits of neatness and accuracy. The business college emphasizes the point that neatness and certain rules of form and spelling are to be observed in writing a letter and addressing an envelope; that no business man can afford to send out letters carelessly written. The business college teaches that the bookkeeper or accountant cannot have "well enough" for his motto. Absolute accuracy is demanded of him. The stenographer must prove her work. She cannot take it for granted it is right unless she has trained herself to be exact.

The boy or girl who has not been taught to do anything well is in a sorry way to cope with life. The one who is satisfied with lessons half learned and a job half done will not be successful in any work, any art or any profession.

Neatness and accuracy should be taught in the home and they should be given special emphasis in the school.

PATCHING PAVEMENTS

The man who invents some kind of a filler for use where ditches have been dug in paved streets for the laying of pipes, would be entitled to a medal from the motoring public. The wear and tear on cars due to these ditches that have been filled temporarily with gravel and sand would equal the cost of a great many miles of paving. And sometimes, when the permanent fills are put in and other repairs are made in the road, the result is nothing to boast about in the way of a smooth street.

When a driver passes one of these holes in the road he says something under his breath and then forgets about it until he has occasion to go over the same spot again. If he and all those who use the road would report the matter to the proper authorities something might be done. Nine times out of ten the one who has the authority to remedy this condition does not use the road and does not know that the repair is not satisfactory. If those who use the road make no complaint why should the street superintendent worry?

It is too much to ask that all service mains be installed in a street before the street is paved. In fact, that would be all but impossible here in Southern California where development is so rapid and so much red tape is required in all street work, but it would seem not to be such a difficult matter to find some kind of a filler, to patch up the holes made in digging these ditches until permanent repairs could be put in, that would make a fairly smooth thoroughfare.

ONE OF MAJOR PROBLEMS

The nation is beginning to recognize that juvenile delinquency is one of its major problems. Not much can be expected of the future if the rising generation is not morally sound. An alarming wave of immorality is said to exist among high school boys and girls the country over, and there are those who declare it is this contaminated wave sweeping out into the seas of life that is responsible for the present nationwide condition.

If so, the condition should be traced to its source, a heavy hand laid on the roots and the vicious thing eradicated immediately and utterly. But where lies the source? Is it the school or is it the home? Many a school superintendent does not hesitate to say that it is the parents who are sending their boys and girls down to ruin.

Do not blame the automobile, the motion picture and other modern developments until you have satisfied yourself personally, you and you and you, citizens, that you are setting your boys and girls the right example, in your own homes. Water cannot rise higher than its source, but can plunge readily to the depths.

GOOD ENGLISH VITAL IN SCHOOLS

Convinced that graduates of California high schools are not sufficiently familiar with the English language, the State Board of Education has ruled that henceforth the prescribed period for English shall be three years, whereas previously it was two. This is a wise ruling and will tend to raise educational standards throughout the state.

It is a travesty on schooling to turn out thousands of students yearly with but two years of their mother tongue. Nothing is more annoying to an educated person than the crude, ungrammatical usages heard on every hand, of which the oft-used "ain't" is no more than a single example among a myriad.

Particularly in the high schools, among its putative friends, is the English language slaughtered. No student should be permitted to take away a diploma who cannot at least speak correctly. Good English is becoming a rarity and the State Board of Education is heartily to be congratulated for its latest move on behalf of the greatest language on earth.

WATER FOR FUTURE USE

In taking preliminary steps to bring the Colorado river to our doors, Los Angeles has struck with a double-edged sword of wisdom, slaying the two-headed Gorgon of Owens river hostility and present drought conditions.

It is true the only move that has been made is filling with the state division of water rights, but the move is significant, nevertheless, and merits consideration. The application asks to divert 1500 second feet. This is four times the present flow from the Owens river aqueduct.

Before the mighty Colorado allows a vein to be severed that Los Angeles may enjoy water transference, many legal battles will rage and much of that same water will pass out to sea—but eventually, by a Boulder dam or by the proposed diversion, Los Angeles will be getting water from the Colorado river.

Better to tee up for a round of golf than to dig up for a round of medicine.

A VERY UNHAPPY MULE

Impatience

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The one quality that best marks a soldier of the ideal is patience.

Of course, he needs vision, he needs courage, he needs persistence, but all of these may easily be spoiled unless he has patience.

Rabindranath Tagore says: "The power of muscle or of money has opportunities of immediate satisfaction, but the power of an ideal must have infinite patience."

The man who enlists under the banner of the ideal shall never see victory. For in idealism there is no victory, only betterment.

Because ideals come to fruition by growth. The God of this world is a gardener. He is not an architect.

The Idealist has become God's partner, for he has glimpsed a great truth, and every truth is a program of Deity.

God, it has been said, does not pay every Saturday night.

Hence there is no reward for the Idealist, no goal, no hour of triumph.

The only reward he can have is the joy of his efforts, the thrill of self-giving, the angels' joy of knowing that the thing he champions is eternal and cannot fail.

He does not get his satisfaction from arriving, but in traveling. His is "the pleasure of going on," as Tennyson says.

He is a member of no "army" that shall one day be victorious; there is no room in idealism for the army symbol. For an army exists for the purpose of gaining territory, destroying opponents or accomplishing some end of State; while ideals exist only for the benefit of the people who hold them.

The soldiers of an army take a city, recklessness of waste of life among the army's best men; the hosts of the ideal seek no city, only to make a better host.

Almost all great causes are stained by impatience.

Today's Poem

"I AM LONELY"
(From "The Spanish Gypsy")
The world is great; the birds all fly from me,
The stars are golden fruit upon a tree
All out of reach; my little sister went,
And I am lonely.

The world is great; I tried to mount the hill
Above the pines, where the light lies so still,
But it rose higher; little Lisa went,
And I am lonely.

The world is great; the wind comes rushing by,
I wonder where it comes from; seabirds cry,
And hurt my heart; my little sister went,
And I am lonely.

The world is great; the people laugh and talk,
And make a loud holiday; how fast they walk!
I'm lame, they push me; little Lisa went,
And I am lonely.
—George Elliot.

Do You Know

A pound of hair will make over 2,000 hair nets.

Grey horses, as a rule, attain greater age than those of any other color.

Between 60,000 and 70,000 are employed in the mines of South Africa.

More people die from a weak heart or stomach than from all other causes combined, according to statistics.

Tooth brushes are used by a greater part of the Chinese people, but tooth paste or tooth powder are hardly known.

Saloniki, Greece, cannot supply enough electricity from its plant to meet the demand and during rush hours of the street cars certain sections of the city are shut off to supply power to the transportation company.

Individuals or business concerns are permitted by the Italian government to use postage stamps as an advertising medium upon agreeing to pay a certain percentage of sales receipts for this privilege.

The Ravings Of a Grouch

I know the bobbed hair question has been threshed out in these columns pro and con, until there is nothing left to be said about the matter on either side. I am not taking sides, but I am tired of bobbed hair as the chief topic of conversation everywhere, all the time. I would give a woman the privilege of following her own inclination in the way she arranges her hair, but what I would like is a little relief from the eternal bobbed hair discussion.

I am an unmarried man and I don't care how women arrange their hair. They may cut it off, or they may wear it long; either way will suit me all right. If I had a wife and daughter I would give them the same privilege I accord to other women. If my wife wished to cut her hair, that would be her right; if she preferred long tresses, that would be equally her own affair, and not mine.

I would not persecute my wife or daughter for cutting her hair, nor would I ridicule them or call them "tintypes" as some men do when their women-folk haven't yet reached the stage where they wish to part with their long tresses.

I know that some women look "awful" with bobbed hair. (How often have you heard that?) On the other hand, some look "awful" with long hair. As far as I can see, it is about fifty-fifty.

What I am trying to say is this: I am sick and tired of the eternal talk about women's hair. The woman who tells with a little touch of pride that her husband says he will leave her if she bobs her hair, makes me sick. She always tells it as if it were something new and original and clever. The man who goes home and finds his wife with her hair bobbed and refuses to speak to her on that account is simply childish. The way women wear their hair is not a life-and-death matter at all. It is given entirely too much importance as a topic of conversation.

Constant harping on this question of bobbed hair shows a lack of intelligence. It proves that sufficient mentality to grasp what is important and what is unimportant is absent.

Women have always done as they pleased and always will, regardless of what is said. It would be a great relief to me to hear less about bobbed hair and more about some of the important things that are taking place in the world—for instance, the Democratic convention.

ACCIDENT VICTIM EXONERATES MAN

Companion Not to Blame
For Leap From Auto,
Mrs. Isensee Says

Chief John D. Fraser of the Glendale police department this morning obtained an interview from Mrs. Gertrude Isensee of 237 South Broadway street, Los Angeles, in which she denied that W. J. Baker was to blame for her leap Sunday night from her car, as they were proceeding north on Glendale avenue.

The interview was obtained at the Glendale hospital, where Mrs. Isensee was taken following the accident. A small skull fracture that it was at first feared might prove fatal, constitutes her most serious injury. She declared that she does not remember whether she got out of the car of her own accord or fell out following a struggle.

Canadian Veteran
An uncle who lives at the same address with Mrs. Isensee, J. Gross, called at police headquarters this morning and was allowed to visit his niece at the hospital. No one else besides Chief Fraser has seen her, not even Baker, who impatiently awaits behind bars.

Engineering Staff to Hold Annual Picnic

A resolution of intention drawn up by the employees of the engineering department of the Glendale city government and signed by A. G. Wheeler, "chief instigator," sets forth that it is the purpose of said employees to hold their annual picnic at Rincon beach, just north of Ventura, Saturday afternoon and Sunday, July 19 and 20.

The party will convene at Patterson Avenue park 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the resolution sets forth. P. H. Slagin, "chief cook, secretary and bottle washer" of the Engineering Department Employees' association, certifies that the resolution was duly adopted by the said association. Some sixty embryo engineers and their families and friends will be present, according to W. J. McIntyre, chief surveyor.

The plans adopted are the plans on file in the office of the secretary, the resolution sets forth, and all assessments levied will run over a period of ten years.

Tea contains up to four per cent of caffeine and ten per cent tannin.

Edison Co. Is Rushing Work On Big Creek Tunnel; Expects To Meet Future Emergencies

continue and payrolls be unaffected.

But what of the future? Suppose there is another dry year? Suppose, as it will, the demand for power increases? What then? The power companies are doing development work to meet the increased demands. Glendale is, of course, directly interested in what the Edison company is doing because this city is served by that corporation, although the city has its own poles, wires and other distributing equipment and could have its own plant—provided a bond issue sufficient to construct an independent plant was voted. Anyway, an auxiliary plant seems an absolute necessity. But to return to the Edison company.

Here in brief is what the corporation is doing and proposes to do:

1 Spend $250,000,000 on the development of the San Joaquin and Big Creek project. But that's a ten-year program. In the meantime, the Edison company has expended $60,000,000 on the Big Creek development and the sum will reach $70,000,000 when completed, which will be, it is estimated, next spring. The total of $29,000,000 was spent last year on production and distribution. The budget for 1924 calls for $26,000,000, but will be greatly exceeded, it is declared, because the corporation has been compelled to buy emergency plants to meet the power shortage and has been forced to press into use old and expensively operated plants in order to supply, as far as possible, the demands for more power.

2 The Edison company is constructing a tunnel about thirteen and a half miles long to bring water into Huntington lake. The tunnel, fifteen feet high and the same in width, was started August 20, 1920. It is due to be completed on March 1, next year, more than a year ahead of schedule. To be exact, the tunnel is a series of tunnels. One portal is at Huntington lake, the other is at Florence lake, where a huge dam is to be constructed to conserve the waters of the south fork of the San Joaquin river. Also, two adits have been constructed for the purpose of rushing the work.

3 The construction of the tunnel is a mammoth engineering feat. Through the use of the adits, six tunnels are being driven at once that, when completed, will become one tunnel about thirteen and a half miles long. The tunnel will be 67,647 feet in length, not including adits and 69,676 with them. There is a total of 18,995 feet yet to be driven. So, then, the tunnel is about 72 per cent completed. If the present schedule of progress is followed the tunnel is due to be completed on March 1, 1925. But the work is, and has been for some time past, exceeding the schedule. Anyway, officials informed The Glendale Evening News representative that there was every indication that the tunnel would be completed by the first of March, next year. It will then require another month to clean the tunnel. In the meantime, work on the big dam at Florence lake will be undertaken.

Big Watershed
In normal times the Huntington lake watershed provides 112,000 acre feet of water. The completion of the tunnel to Florence lake reservoir will touch a watershed of 259,000 acre feet of water. That makes a combined 371,000 acre feet available next spring. This amount, were the Edison company's development project to stop there, would normally meet power demands for the present. But the Edison company, visioning an even greater development of the southern section that has occurred in the past, has a ten-year program that calls for additional tunnels touching other watersheds, more power houses and greater distribution systems. As already stated, the corporation proposes to spend $250,000,000 in power development. Its surveys have been made and the projects mapped. The officials plan for a greater Great Southland.

5 With the Big Creek tunnel completed by March and in operation by April of next year, officials declare that a power shortage like that of the present year cannot occur, for the drainage area will be such that water can be stored and drawn upon to meet the emergency should this record dry year be repeated. So that's that.

Auxiliary Plant
Yet accidents will happen; power lines may get out of order; the weather has a habit of ignoring schedules and there's no argument against insurance. So, then, the theory is advanced that no matter what may be the power developed in the High Sierras, it is good insurance on Glendale's part to have a permanent power auxiliary plant that will protect this city from a municipal water shortage and darkness. It is estimated that such a plant can be cured for $300,000 or less so that if, for any reason, power can not be had from the Edison company, Glendale will be in a position to protect its own municipal water supply, its homes from danger of fire and its industries from utter ruin. Incidentally, it is pointed out that a municipally owned auxiliary power plant puts a city in a position of meeting the "peak load" and by so doing enables a consumer to make a better contract with a power corporation in purchasing power.

Human Interest
The magnitude of the Edison company's development in the High Sierras cannot be outlined in the space limit placed upon this article. The project is filled with columns of stories, human interest features and man's battle against the elements. The company's efforts to keep its men satisfied in the mountains, its serving to them of meals for which they pay 35 cents and which would cost 75 cents or $1 in a city restaurant, the importation of moving picture shows, the recreation halls, the comfortable sleeping quarters, the keen rivalry of the crews anxious to set records in tunnel construction, the self-sacrifices on the part of both workmen and officials—these are worthy of extended comment.

There's Jerry Dwyer. He's an old Alaskan. Silent, yet a mine of good stories. He's in charge of the dog team that takes supplies to the camps in winter. His team of six dogs, a mixture of wolf, staghound and airedale, see to it that the men get mail, papers and luxuries.

And there are the electric trains that carry men and supplies into the tunnels and remove the debris from the blasts. Incidentally, it takes about forty boxes of powder to set off the holes drilled by machinery. Miles of air and water pipes. Tunnels made workable a half-hour after a blast.

Honor Team Leader
The grave of "Babe," the leader of the dog team that died on duty, buried on the top of Kaiser Pass, at an altitude of 9300 feet. The uncovering of the bones of a human being who perished in the High Sierras long before the hydro-electric project was ever thought of. And the declaring of a half holiday while the skeleton was moved to make way for a $250,000,000 project. There's a story!

Roads that had to be carved from solid rock on steep mountain sides. One road is known as the "million dollar road" because it cost almost that much per mile. Hospitals, doctors, nurses. Medical equipment and supplies. Better than found in many cities. Railroads, tramways, power houses, millions of dollars invested in machinery. Engineering problems that make the Panama canal look like a ditch-digging job. Why the prediction is made that the tunnels being driven to meet each other will come together to an inch! All miles under ground and through solid rock. Yet, sometimes a soft spot will be found, water gushes forth and the schedule of progress is upset.

Hot Food Train
Cars to carry hot food to the men miles under ground so that they will not have to eat cold lunches. Efforts to get water rights, the task to make settlers see the vision of unlimited power turning the wheels of industries 500 miles away.

Indians. Schools for children of the workmen. Accidents. Deaths. Attempts of the I. W. W. to stir up strife. The labor turn-over. The problem of the men who want to work just long enough to get a "stake" and then move on to the next camp.

Financing. The Edison company has more than 40,000 stockholders. Rates. Building reservoirs big enough to holding water yet not too big to force a raise in rates. Two hundred and fifty millions of dollars! Much of it going into mountain sides so that cities may prosper! Yes, there are stories. Big stories, in the Edison company's camps on Big Creek!

Company's Policy
And the policy of the corporation as its business is the public's business. Every question answered. Data secured for the questioners. Records produced. No attempt to hide anything. Frank answers to frank questions. E. R. Davis, manager of construction for the corporation; J. H. Redinger, resident engineer, and W. H. Dresser, superintendent of the Joaquin & Eastern Railroad company, owned by the Edison company, were of extreme value in providing facilities to the visiting party seeking facts and figures. They and their assistants dropped their own work to answer questions, produce records, pictures, blueprints, provide automobiles for visits to distant points—in brief, they displayed a willingness to show the entire project as it is. Incidentally, the inspection of a night vision into a tunnel a mile long to where men were at work preparatory to installing a blast.

Manager to Report
Officials declared that they welcomed public inspection for, as they explained it, the project is for the public. For the public and the public's business.

City Manager Stone is working upon his report to the City Council and, it is expected, he will outline his findings and, perhaps, make some suggestions relative to what course Glendale should take to meet any emergency in the future. He has stated a number of times he believes an auxiliary power plant is a necessity and, it is presumed, he will so reiterate in his report to the City Council.

But a newspaper article nor an official report can never tell the real story of the Edison company's work in the High Sierras. The material is there for a book, several of them, pictures and all. Plot and counter-plot. Love, hate, life, death, romance—it's all there.

The story of the days of gold, the days of old, the days of '49 has been written. Twenty-nine millions of dollars are carving a new story for the state on and in the High Sierras, a story of water conserved and being trained to build cities and then make them prosper.

Pile Up 99 Points, With Finns In Second Place;
England Is Third

Southern California nosed out Niklander of Finland for fifth place. This added 21 points to the American total. The other four went to Finland.

Ned Gourdin, former Harvard athlete, finished behind Hubbard in the broad jump, giving the Americans 15 points in that event. The other places went as follows: Third, Hansen of Norway; fourth, Tualos of Finland; fifth, Wilhelm of France; sixth, MacIntosh of England.

At the end of the nine events which have been completed the American point total was 99, nearly double that of the Finns, who were second with 54. England followed with 27 1/2 and then came Sweden with 14 1/2; France with 9 1/2; Hungary with 7 1/2; Switzerland with 5 and New Zealand and Norway with 4 each.

Hubbard Injured
Hubbard's winning jump was his last. He sprained his ankle and was forced to retire. But the 24 feet, 6 inches was better than any of the others. Gourdin's distance was 23 feet, 11 inches, one inch better than Hansen could do. All four of the American starters in the 200-metre dash qualified today for the semi-final heats, although Harold Abrahams, the British flyer, continued to dominate things when he defeated Charles Paddock in the tenth heat. Bayes Norton, Yale; George Hill, Pennsylvania; Jackson V. Scholz, New York A. C., won their preliminary heats and Paddock also qualified.

The Prince of Wales was among the spectators in the stadium. The prince was escorted upon the field by Olympic games officials and hobnobbed with a number of the athletes, near the starting post of the 200-metre dash.

Sees Abrahams Win
Norton won the 200 preliminary heat in 21 4-5 seconds and Scholz won the sixth heat in 22 2-5 seconds.

The Prince of Wales moved down to the finishing line and was rewarded when Abrahams just nosed out Paddock in the tenth heat in 22 1-5 seconds.

The United States team sustained a severe setback today when W. A. Comins, one of the best of the American broad jumpers, pulled a tendon during his first jump and collapsed.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR—No. 2
Yesterday we had the first paper regarding Superfluous Hair. I'll give you a brief review of that paper before we go on with the subject.

The causes of superfluous hair are obscure. It may be a racial or a family trait, or there may be some dysfunction of the internal glands. Anything that causes the blood to come in excess to a part may cause a growth of hairs. This has been demonstrated in patients who have applied plasters and liniments for a long period over neuralgic spots, and so forth. Face creams probably have no effect in stimulating hair growths. (Jackson).

There is only one method we know of for removing superfluous hair, that is permanent, and this is electrolysis in the hands of an expert. In an article I wrote some time ago, I said that if I were afflicted with a heavy growth of coarse hair on my face, I would shave it if I could not get it off any other way. I should like to emphasize the fact that I was not referring to the milder form of superfluous hair, but to the luxuriant, heavy growths that are really disfiguring. Of course, shaving, or the use of depilatories, makes the growth still coarser and has to be kept up constantly.

Long advises the women who have slight mustaches of fine hair, to use a good depilatory. This probably coarsens the hair sometimes, but it is the lesser of the two evils. For coarse hairs which are far apart, Long advises the use of the electric needle; and if there are fine hairs, and a few coarse hairs, to have the coarser hairs removed with the electric needle and use a depilatory on the finer ones.

Depilatories keep the hair off longer than shaving. Hairs can be rendered less conspicuous by bleaching. Most standard depilatories on the market are dependable, but if you wish to have one put up, the following is a formula that is taken from a standard skin text book:

Depilatory—No. 1

(For external use only!)

Sulphide of barium... 3 drams
Oxide of zinc... 3 drams
Oxide of starch... 4 drams
Mix with warm water to a paste that will not run. Spread on the part and leave for ten minutes, or until it begins to burn a little. It may have to be moistened once during this period. Scrape off and wash, then apply a soothing cream. Note that this formula is for external use only.

In the May number of the American Medical Journal, there is a resume of an article from a Berlin Medical Journal. It states that Noble warned against the use of X-Ray for the removal of superfluous hair, and advised electrolysis instead.

Depilatory—No. 2

(For external use only!)

Tincture of Iodine... 3 parts
Turpentine... 6 parts
Castor Oil... 8 parts
Spiritus Colloidi... 80 parts
The region is to be painted over very thickly. After it dries, the painting is repeated twice. The edge is then seized and the whole thick film with all the hair embedded in it, is torn away. You might try this prescription. The editor stated that it was harmless.

Business Meeting

The meeting held last night by the Neighbors of Woodcraft in the I. O. O. F. hall on West Broadway was very well attended. EASTERN CHURCH USES OLD ORGAN

Second Instrument Made In America Has Served for Over a Century

MECHANICSBURG, Pa., June 8.—The second pipe organ to be built in America, in 1807, is still in use, and, according to church records, has never been repaired. This organ is installed in Old Peace church, built in 1780, in 1780. The church, one of the oldest in the country, for fifty years was used as a schoolhouse on week days and a church on Sundays.

The organ was purchased from Conrad Doll, an organ builder, who lived in Lancaster. The keys were made of wood, and the instrument had six stops. When completed the instrument had 300 pipes.

In the belief that many medicinal qualities can be discovered in watercress, culture of the plant is being taken up in Germany.

Chats On Beauty

IF YOU ARE UGLY

You aren't, of course. No one is really ugly. Something here in every face is redeeming, feature, or if the face is hopeless, the figure perhaps will be good. No, no one is really wholly ugly.

But if you have enough bad points to be glanced at casually and then classified among the homely ones, if no one bothers to sift and choose and finally pick out and dwell upon your few good points, what are you going to do? I have a few suggestions. I think the most valuable one for you is to make yourself "interesting."

Unusual, I mean, even a little odd, but nicely so, not freakishly.

Hunt for your best point—you've dozens—but choose the one easiest to bring out. If it's a good figure, study lines and materials and let your dresses be your chief extravagance. So you bring out your figure. If it's hair, find someone really artistic to advise you about ways of dressing it to show it off. If it's the shape of your hands, learn to use those hands to show their beauty. Was Duse beautiful? I suppose so, but her hands and arms were so exquisite and so exquisitely used I never went beyond them. And while bringing out your best points, study how to improve your bad ones.

This is all well enough known advice. You must do more than this. It may take years to look pretty instead of ugly, you can look interesting overnight. Choose some odd, unusual shade of your most becoming color, and wear it always; either entirely, or with a touch of it about your clothes. Choose some odd ornament and wear it always, a carved or jeweled comb, a bizarre but beautiful bracelet—these are sketchy suggestions. Work out better ones for yourself.

Discouraged—You cannot get rid of freckles if they are natural to your type. All that you can do is to bleach off some of the worst of them, but even then you should never use anything so strong that it will injure your skin. Constant bleaching is also bad as it will injure the skin by neutralizing the natural secretions.

Cucumber juice, or lemon juice may be used several times each week, followed by a little massaging with oil or cream to make up to the skin the loss from the bleaching. Buttermilk may also be used even oftener than the acid bleaches, but none of these will really remove freckles, and anything that could do that would be done at the expense of the skin.

Wanda B.—A vanishing cream is a convenience at times when you must make a hasty toilet, but the constant use of it is not advisable for the complexion.

Mrs. L.: "Can you give me a recipe for Mexican Tamales?"
Answer: This is one of the recipes which I have multi-graphed, with five other recipes, to send out to my Reader Friends who send me a stamped and self-addressed envelope (no charge, of course). When writing, ask for my article entitled "Seven Good Summer Dishes." The "Tamales" recipe is very long, or I would publish it here.

Bride: "How can one learn to build a balanced menu? I know your daily menus are balanced, but I would like to make some of my own, too."

Answer: Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I will send you my multi-graphed page of directions for balancing a menu. You see every meal must have some food which is protein, some which is starchy, some containing fat, and some rich in vitamins. My multi-graphed page lists the various foods containing these elements, that if you select one food from each class you get a pretty good balance. When writing, ask for my article on "The Composition of the Ordinary Foods."

A Reader: "I have a pair of shoes which squeak when I walk. What can I do to remove this annoying sound?"

Answer: I regret that I don't happen to know of a thing that will remove the squeak from shoes. But let us hope that some generous-hearted reader of this column does know of something that will remedy the trouble, and that she will be good enough to write the directions on a postal and mail it to me, in care of this paper, to publish for you.

Mrs. A. S.: "Some time ago 'R. A.' asked for carnation croch directions. Here are mine: Carnations: Chain ten and make a slip stitch to make a ring. Row Two: Ch. six, one D.C., .. ch. three, one D.C. Repeat the directions between the stars (*) till you have seven spaces in the ring in all. Row Three: Ch. three, one D.C., ch. three, two D.C. into first space. Chain three, two D.C. ch. three, two D.C. into next space, and continue all around. Rows Four, Five and Six: Same as Row Three. This completes the crocheting. To form the flower grasp the center of the circle and attach the wire. A drop of carnation perfume will make the decoration complete."

Answer: It was good of you to send us these directions, for which I am sure we all thank you. Tomorrow—Some Good Pickles and Sauces

U. S. STARS FACE HARD DAY'S WORK

Keen Competition to Keep American Athletes on Jump to Lead

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.
COLOMBES STADIUM, France, July 8.—Although the American Olympic athletes are today in the lead for the title, due to their record breaking stunts yesterday, followers of the game believe that the boys from across the sea have to face the hardest proposition in the history of the Olympics.

Eight events are on the card for today. They are:

- Trial heats in the 110 hurdles.
- Finals in the broad jump.
- Trials in the 200 metre run.
- Finals in the shot put.
- Finals in the 800 metre run.
- Semi-finals in the 110 metre hurdles.
- Trials in the 500 metres.
- Trials in the 200 metres.

The Americans believe that they will run up a big score in the shot put, feeling sure that Hills, Hartnutt and Houser, who have been hurling the missile over the 50-foot mark in practice, and Anderson, who has been going "over the top" will add to the Yankees' score. Their only competition will be Porhola and Torp, Finns, who have not come anywhere near the American mark in practice.

May Tour Germany
Officials of the American team have received an invitation for a team of stars to tour Germany, Czechoslovakia and Austria after the Olympic games, competing with the athletes of those countries.

The invitation was extended by Hans Bororowick, editor of the Berlin Sportblatt, former secretary of the German Athletic Union, who made a special trip from Berlin to conclude arrangements. He promised the American committee that all expenses would be paid and that friendly crowds would visit the games. Because many athletes are competing in a meet in England on July 19 and many later going to Dublin for the Irish Olympics, it is doubtful if many of the athletes will accept the offer to compete in central Europe.

H. Guthrie, Ohio State, was the first American to start in the third day's events in the Colombes stadium and he won a trial heat in the 110 metre hurdles and qualified for the semi-finals. Guthrie's time was 15.45 seconds. Partridge, the British star, a starter in this heat, failed to qualify. In the second heat Newberry of the Argentine team was withdrawn and Ugart, the Chilean, failed to qualify.

TAGGING THE BASES

The Giants increased their advantage to five games, when they were idle while the Cubs were defeated by the Cardinals.

In the American league both the Senators and Yankees were idle, Washington still retaining its one-game lead.

The Pirates got within half a game of third place when they buried the Dodgers under an avalanche of hits and won, 9 to 5.

Quinn and Ferguson weakened, and the Red Sox dropped two to the Athletics, 6 to 2 and 6 to 3.

BASEBALL QUESTION BOX

If you want to know anything about a play or player—

QUESTION—What team in the major league does Hazen play with, and is he a regular or "sub"?
ANSWER—I am puzzled to locate a Hazen.

QUESTION—Runners are on third and second. Batter hits fly ball to right. Right fielder muffs the ball. Runner on third scores. Runner on second is put out at home on the throw in. Does the run count? If the batter had singled would the run have counted?
ANSWER—The run counts and it would have counted if there had been a single.

QUESTION—Runners are on third and second. Batter singles to center. Runner on third scores. Runner on second advances to third. Fielder throws the ball to second, retiring the batter who has attempted to stretch his leg. The runner is also out. Does the run count? Had the batter been trapped between second and first would the run count?
ANSWER—The run counts. The batter touched first which was all that was necessary. The runs would have counted as soon as the batter touched first.

QUESTION—A claims that Shockley, pitcher for the St. Louis Browns, struck Babe Ruth out five times in a nine inning game.
ANSWER—No record has been found of any such occurrence.

Modern Italian carnival probably was founded on the old pagan Saturnalia.

UP TO HIS OLD STUFF

By Dick Dorgan

Having decided that 1924 would be his last season in the big league show, Walter Johnson, the shut-out king, and star pitcher of the Washington team, seems to be out for one grand, big season.

Johnson recently pitched a one-hit game against the Chicago White Sox (Harry Hooper getting a single in the fourth inning), beating them, 1 to 0, and running his string of shut-outs up to 105 and striking out fourteen batters. The latter puts Walter's strike-out record way over the 3000 mark—a record no other pitcher is in halting distance of.

Walter doesn't rely on his speed, as of yore, but on a fine change of pace and remarkable control. This is his eighteenth year as a major leaguer, and under the rules, he is entitled to an unconditional release. If Johnson can purchase an interest in some Coast league club, he will step down from the majors and pitch on the coast.

The Big Swede holds all sorts of pitching records, from the number of consecutive scoreless innings pitched to wild pitches. He ranks with Mathewson and Rusie as one of the three greatest pitchers of all time. Walter has given up his dream of working in a world's series, having spent his entire baseball career with the Senators, who have never been serious contenders, but most of the time a second division team.

AFTER THIS, HIS 18TH WALTER WANTS TO RETIRE AND BUY A MINOR LEAGUE CLUB

Johnson was born thirty-six years ago in Humboldt, Kan. He feels that he can't stand the gaff for many more campaigns, and is anxious to settle in some coast league town where he will be the whole team—pitcher, manager and president. But, outside of that, he is trying to win a pennant for the Senators, single-handed this year as a sort of a farewell gift.

Groat May Land Job As Tiger Moundsman

Fred Groat, who hurled several games for the Pasadena Merchants against the White Sox, probably will be wearing a Vernon uniform before the end of the week, according to rumors floating around Washington park. Tiger scouts have been watching the work of Groat for the last few weeks, and it is understood a contract will be offered him. Groat won recognition in college circles when he pitched the California School of Technology to victory during his college days.

BEES AND TIGERS TO START SERIES

Both Clubs Tied for Fourth Place in Coast League
Pennant Race

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—The position of fourth place in the Coast league pennant race will be fully determined, settled and decided at the end of next week, following the series between the Salt Lake team and the Tigers at Washington park. The series will open today.

Duffy Lewis will lead his aggregation against the Vernon team. The homeless Bees, by the time the series ends, will have secured a home, it is believed, inasmuch as Vancouver baseball magnates are trying hard to induce Lewis to weather the rest of the season in the northern port.

The Seals will play the Indians at Seattle this week, and the outcome of the week's contest will center around top place in the loop, since the Indians finished with a little margin.

The Angels will be at Portland to meet the team which knocked the Seals from the top rung of the ladder, while the Indians were climbing up at the expense of the Angels. At Oakland, the Solons will meet the Oaks for the week's series.

The only game played in the Coast league yesterday was between Portland and San Francisco at Portland, and was won by the Beavers, 6 to 5. Both teams scored two runs in the first inning, and the Seals took the lead with a run in the second. The Beavers climbed on top in the sixth with two runs, and strengthened their lead with two runs in the eighth. The Seals threatened to tie the count in the ninth, but only got two runs.

Shade and Colima to Meet In Vernon Ring

Jack Doyle's Vernon arena will be dark tonight, but a week from tonight the bout boxing fans have been waiting for will be dished up to them. It will bring together Dave Shade, clever California welterweight who has been knocking 'em over in the east, and Bert Colima, favorite in Southern California.

Shade recently returned to the scene of his early conquests, after cleaning up some title contenders in the eastern cities. He has issued a challenge to the winner of the Benny-Leonard-Mickey Walker battle, and is anxious to get a crack at the title holder. The fight was scheduled for tonight, but Colima hurt one hand in practice which caused the event to be postponed.

SPALLA MATCHED TO MEET FULTON

Italian Retains Respect of Promoters and Fans by Slashing Style

By FAIR PLAY
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924
NEW YORK, July 8.—For a man who was pretty thoroughly pecked to pieces by stabbing blows, Spalla has retained a lot of respect from managers, promoters and fans. What they like most about the big Italian, is the way he absorbed all that Tunney sent and wanted more. It was merely the shutting off of his vision that finally led the referee to call it a day.

The writer predicted after the fight that Spalla would get plenty of work from now on. And he will. Whom do you think they are going to bring out as his next opponent? Fred Fulton, no less. Fred has been working quietly in the minor league and feels the time has come when he can startle the metropolitan district. Promoters are always ready to take one more chance on Fred and so the fans may look forward with some interest to this battle.

Bartley Madden and Jack Renault in the semi-final of the Willis-Firpo battle the latter part of August shows what a showman Rickard is. Here is a fight that ought to be as good, if not better, than the main affair of the evening.

Renault will surely paste Madden good and plenty, but Madden will play his old role of shock absorber, and since Renault is not too hard a hit will probably do some socking on his own account.

VANCOUVER GETS SALT LAKE TEAM

Franchise Is Transferred to Canadian City After Conference Held

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—The franchise of the Salt Lake club of the Pacific Coast league has been transferred to Vancouver, B. C., following a conference held between President Harry Williams of Los Angeles and William Lane, owner of the Salt Lake Bees, it was learned here today. Long Beach and San Diego were the principal bidders against the Canadian city for the Bees' franchise.

The Vancouver club will play here this week against Vernon and the series of July 15 will be played against Seattle in Vancouver. The Sunday games scheduled in Vancouver will probably be played in Seattle, however, as Sunday baseball is not permitted in the Canadian city.

Twilight League Will Open Schedule Today

The opening game of the Twilight Baseball league will be played on the grounds of the Harvard Street High school today, starting at 5 o'clock, between teams representing the Central Labor Council and the Postoffice.

The game will end at 7 o'clock, sharp, and the score at the end of the last complete inning before that time will be the official score. Batteries must be members of the organization they represent, but other players may, where necessary, be substituted.

TOKIO, July 8.—Further evidence that the Japanese government seeks the aid of American capital and American genius in handling the interests of Japanese radio organizations in China, particularly the Mitsui interests, is shown in practically every new statement from Tokyo on the China-Japan-America radio discussions. What was at first a complaint against the American Federal Radio company, and a charge that the Chinese government, by granting the American organization radio rights in China had violated the monopolistic rights of the Japanese Mitsui organization has now become merely an ill-concealed attempt on the part of the Tokyo government to aid the Mitsui company in forming a joint American-Sino-Japanese radio corporation to manage the radio stations in China.

In a statement given out recently an official closely connected with the Japanese radio discussions said "Japan demands first of all that China recognize the validity of the Mitsui radio contract; then may follow whatever conditions of a joint radio organization Japan may be willing to enter. Japan looks upon this feature of validity admission as a matter of principle. Once it is established for Japan this country is quite willing to discuss co-operation with any of the countries of the world in this enterprise bearing so closely on the progress of civilization."

This statement coming as it does partly as a denial of the report (also believed to have emanated from Japanese sources in Peking) a compromise had already been reached whereby Japan, China and the United States and, perhaps, Great Britain would enter into an agreement for the management of radio stations in China, is taken by many foreign observers in Tokyo to mean only one thing—namely, that Japan and the government here and the leading business men have become worried over certain alleged failures of the Mitsui station in China, and are attempting direct negotiations for aid in management which may turn out as a Japanese business failure.

"The plant established by the Mitsui company, at a cost of several million yen, has experienced with great success in the exchange of messages with European countries," says the powerful Nichi Nichi, leading Tokyo daily newspaper, whose connections with government and business interests in Japan cannot be

LOTUS BUCKLES

NEW YORK, July 8.—Tutankhamen is not dead yet. The exquisite lotus buckle on one of his exhumed sandals reappears in leather on a summer pump. The pump is of black patent leather, the lotus being in black patent and white suede.

Theatres

Compiled by Members of The Evening News Staff

"Marion Gray," now being presented nightly by Murphy's Comedians at their tent theatre on Stocker street, Casa Verdugo, is the stage version of Bertha M. Clay's famous novel. The tent is located between Brand boulevard and Central avenue.

The curtain rises at 8 o'clock each night, Manager J. A. Menard invites those who wish front seats to come any time after 7:15 o'clock. The play will continue all week.

"Marion Gray" is a strong, well balanced piece of theatrical timber and the cast assembled by the Comedians is worthy of the play. Those who have longed to see a gripping drama of the heart will find it here.

THE T. D. & L.

Gloria Swanson in "Manhanded" shows for the last time today at the T. D. & L. theatre.

THE GLENDALE

Laurette Taylor in "Happiness" continues at the Glendale theatre.

THE GATEWAY

Joseph Hergesheimer's "Cytherea" concludes at the Gateway theatre today.

Minister to Tell of Rumanian Oil Crisis

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Peter Augustus Jay, American minister to Rumania, has been recalled to the United States to report to the state department on the new Rumanian oil law against which this country has entered strenuous protest, it is reported in diplomatic circles today.

Purchase of Foreign Corn Injures Market

DAVENPORT, Iowa, July 8.—While there is a good demand for cash corn the local market is perturbed by reports from the Pacific coast that California is buying Argentine corn 20 to 30c per cwt. below domestic quotations.

IMPROVES HAT

NEW YORK, July 8.—The little veiling of net or chiffon set round the brim of a hat is again "smart." This bit of veiling adds attractiveness to most women and gives a seasonable touch of airiness to the marriage hat.

TIME LIMIT FOR TENT SHOW FIXED

Murphy Comedians Allowed Till Aug. 1; Must Start Building Theatre

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—Until August 1 the Murphy Comedians shall be allowed to play in their tent at the corner of Stocker, Central and Brand boulevards, Casa Verdugo, according to the ukase of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors yesterday afternoon when beset by motion picture people who feel the effects of the stock company on their attendance.

And after August 1, J. A. Menard may keep on playing in his tent there provided he starts building a theatre on the site which he has purchased, according to the same ukase, which was of little solace to the showmen who sought to banish Murphy from Glendale.

It also developed that Murphy's Comedians, because of their location in the "country district" of Casa Verdugo, are getting New York plays for stock company production before Los Angeles, which accounts, perhaps, for the tremendous attendance reported to the Board of Supervisors, who seemed quite in sympathy with the class of entertainment being provided, if not the tent theatre.

COLORFUL FROCKS

NEW YORK, July 8.—The young girl of today presents a colorful appearance in her latest dance frock. This is silk crepe, perhaps a blue or a pale yellow, strewn with large hand painted flowers in natural shades.

WHITE SPORT HATS

NEW YORK, July 8.—The white sport hat is a chic and very girlish affair. Of felt or taffeta, it fits the head closely and in many cases is a veritable balast shape.

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BUNTY'S BURNS

"I suppose I might as well hop to the woods and look for an adventure," said Uncle Wiggily on Fourth of July, when he had skipped three times around his bungalow. "It will be a bit cooler there, I hope. But, anyhow, I can take some lemonade, ice cream and a bottle of ice water with me. That will help some. It is too hot to stay here."

So he packed some cracked ice in a pail, and in the ice he put a cup filled with ice cream, a bottle of water and a little pitcher of lemonade.

"Well, I must sit down and cool off a bit! I can't hop another hop," said Uncle Wiggily to himself after he had gone a little way through the woods. He reached a shady place near a spring of water, that bubbled up amid the green, mossy rocks.

"I'll paddle my feet in the spring and eat some ice cream," said the bunny. "Oh, how wonderful his is!" he murmured a little later, as he daintily ate the frozen cream and sipped the cooling lemonade which he took from his icy pail.

The rabbit gentleman was eating the last of the cream and he was saying: "How fine I feel now," when he heard a sad little voice saying:

"How unhappy we are! Such trouble as we are in!"

"Dear me! This is too bad!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, looking around. "It is no fun to be happy when someone else is sad. Who are you and what is the trouble?" he asked, for he saw no one.

"We are two butterflies," was the answer, "and we are caught fast in an old cobweb, so that we can no longer fly in the bright sunshine and sip honey from the flowers."

"That certainly is too bad!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman. "Can you flutter your wings a bit now, so I may see where you are caught in the cobweb? Then I'll help you get loose."

"Look this way," cried the second of the sad voices. Uncle Wiggily saw a flash of red and gold amid the leaves of a bush, and hopping over there, he beheld the two butterflies, caught in an old cobweb, the spider having moved to a new apartment.

The cobweb was very easy for Uncle Wiggily to break, though it was too strong for the butterflies, and the rabbit gentleman soon set free the two beautiful insects, with their wings of red and gold.

"Thank you," gently murmured one. "Thank you, Uncle Wiggily. Now we must fly away to get sweet honey from the flowers."

The other fluttered its wings and said: "Yes, we are very hungry. 'Would you like a little sweet, melted ice cream juice?' asked the bunny. 'I have some left in my dish.'"

The butterflies were very glad to sip a little of the melted ice cream, which was sweet, like honey, and then they took a drink of ice water.

"My, it is getting hotter and hotter, and I have nothing left with which to keep cool," said Uncle Wiggily, as the sun rose higher in the sky. "We will cool you, Uncle Wiggily," murmured the butterflies.

They perched on each of his shoulders, the butterflies did, and moved their large wings like fans, making a breeze and cooling the rabbit. Uncle Wiggily walked through the woods with the fanning butterflies on each shoulder.

"Oh, now I am fine and cool!" he cried.

"I wish I was," suddenly spoke a sad voice. "I burned myself playing at a bonfire, and, oh, how hot my burn is! Oh, dear!"

Uncle Wiggily saw Baby Bunty, the little rabbit girl, blowing on her burned paw, which she had held too near a Fourth of July bonfire.

"Bunty, you should never play with fire," he told her. And when she promised she never would again the two butterflies perched themselves on Bunty's burned paw and fanned it gently, making a cool breeze, which took the stinging pain from the burn. Soon Bunty went to sleep and when she awakened her pain was all gone.

So the butterflies cooled the rabbit gentleman and the little bunny girl, which teaches us that even beautiful things may be of some use in this world. And if the wheelbarrow doesn't try to race with the automobile and get all out of breath so it can't sing at the rag doll's party, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the rocking horse.

BOWS OF FEATHERS

LONDON, July 8.—Among the novelties of the moment is the feather bow. In vivid shades of green, blue, orange and red, it is amusing, of enormous proportions and is topped off at each end by long feather fronds.

Veteran Bureau Head Beaten by Ex-Soldier

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Director Frank T. Hines of the United States Veterans' Bureau was attacked in his office here yesterday by Thomas M. Dever, a World War veteran, of San Antonio, Tex., when he became enraged over a decision handed down by the bureau in his claim against the government for war injuries. Dever, a husky fellow, struck Hines several times before Captain C. O. Shaw, chairman of the board of appeals, who rendered the claim decision, and others, succeeded in subduing him. Hines was not seriously hurt.

Unfair Balloting Is Charged In Election

MEXICO CITY, July 8.—Charges of unfair balloting in Sunday's national presidential election were made here yesterday afternoon. Good order prevails throughout the republic. While there has been no official announcement, it is understood that General Plutarco Elias Calles was elected to succeed Alvaro Obregon. General Angel Flores evidently was defeated.

England's Policy on Reparations Outlined

LONDON, July 8.—Premier Ramsay MacDonald has declared England would stand shoulder to shoulder with the allies if Germany defaulted in any provision of the Dawes report after its acceptance.

Assertion was made in the course of an address in the House of Commons in which he announced he was going to Paris for a conference with Premier Herriot in an effort to reconcile the differences between France and England over the former's objection to the terms of the British invitation to the allies to meet in London to draw up a plan for the settlement of reparation difficulties.

PARRAKEETS ON CANES

PARIS, July 8.—The lady who used to go a hunting with a falcon on her wrist is imitated by the lady who today goes astroling with a parakeet on her walking stick. Real? Oh, la, no. This parakeet is a painted wooden affair containing cigarettes and powder puff.

Mussels are more susceptible to pollution than oysters.

PLAN FOR HARBOR

SANTA BARBARA, July 8.—The City Council has invited Captain Charles T. Leeds to come here and make plans for a modern harbor which will protect craft at anchor along Santa Barbara's waterfront. An expenditure of upwards of $1,000,000 will likely be necessary, it is indicated from earlier reports on the same subject by the captain.

LEAPS FROM WRECK

MONTECITO, July 8.—Peter Phillip of Santa Barbara is alive to tell the tale which equals any movie thriller ever pictured. Last Saturday his machine was struck by an Olive Southern Pacific locomotive on a residential road in this exclusive residential park. Phillip did a "Tom Mix" and jumped clear of his car as it was demolished. He does not advise others to try the stunt.

RESCUES TWO BOYS

NEWPORT BEACH, July 8.—Mickie Horton, aged 7, stepped into a hole in the beach near the Palisades. He was rescued from the watery grave by Anton Derraga, captain of the life guards. Today he is instructing Brea boys, who are from the country, how to swim.

Water from the bathing pool saved the day.

SAN BERNARDINO, July 8.—A test case of interest to realtors throughout California is being prosecuted in local courts. The People's Exchange Realty company has sued to collect $600 commission alleged due on an exclusive listing sold by another dealer for Emma H. Iverson, defendant. She contends that she did not know the paper she signed was an exclusive listing, according to L. G. King, her attorney.

FIND VIRGIN GOLD

SAN BERNARDINO, July 8.—William Smith and Archie Vorce, negro miners, are the cynosure of all prospectors here this week. They have brought in good samples of virgin gold from Goat canyon on Lytle Creek where they have sunk a shaft near the old Washington placer mine. TAX REDUCTIONS
GO INTO EFFECT*New Statute Provides for Repeal of Burden on Many Commodities

"The new internal revenue law, effecting a great reduction in taxes, went into effect in most of its provisions July 2 at midnight," said Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodell yesterday.

Under this new law income tax rates for 1924 and subsequent years are reduced from 4 per cent and 8 per cent to 2 per cent and 4 per cent, or cut in half. Besides this, there is a further reduction of 25 per cent on tax on "earned income." All income of $5000 or less will enjoy this additional 25 per cent reduction of taxes due, as computed under the new rate. There was also granted a 25 per cent reduction in tax on 1923 incomes. Persons who paid in full before March 15, 1924, will receive refund checks for one-fourth of the amount paid. Those paying in installments deduct the one-fourth from their quarterly payments.

Amusement Tax

On and after July 3, 1924, there will be no tax on admissions selling for 50 cents or less. This is a direct boon to pleasure seekers as the admission tax is paid by the purchaser and not by the theater owner.

The tax on telegraph and telephone messages was repealed, effective at midnight July 2. This tax was also payable by the person paying for the message, so that it also is a direct tax saving to the people.

Tax on syrups and soft drinks was repealed June 2, 1924, and an ice cream soda can be enjoyed now with no thought of its being taxable.

The jeweler can now save his patrons tax on the lower priced jewelry, as on and after July 3 there will be no tax on jewelry selling for $30 or less, nor on watches selling for $60 or less. Articles used for religious purposes, musical instruments and silver plated flatware are no longer subject to any tax.

Boon to Autoists

The lover of the "open road" can now enjoy his automobile all the more, knowing that since since July 3 the tax on tires, tubes, parts and accessories is cut in half. The tax is now 2 1/2 per cent, whereas it was 5 per cent until July 2, 1924.

Tax on carpets, rugs, trunks, fans, lamps, hand bags, etc., was wholly removed on June 2, 1924. The only new items made subject to excise tax in the new law are Mah Jongg, Pung Chow and similar tile sets. The tax is 10 per cent of the price for which such set or parts thereof are sold by the manufacturer or importer. Parties who now seek the "east wind" or the "dragon" will do so expecting to find a tax bill attached to it or him.

"On the whole," continued Collector Goodell, "the saving in tax effected by the new law is sufficient that its effect will be felt and appreciated by every business and person in the United States and the saving in Southern California will help measurably to keep Los Angeles the "White Spot" of the country.

Realty Man Tells of Two Important Sales

The pulling power of The Glendale Evening News classified advertisements is vouched for by A. J. Lucas, real estate operator, 309 South Brand boulevard, who reports the sale of two important pieces of property within the past few days.

Mr. Lucas ordered two insertions of an advertisement for the modern six-room home of Mrs. Louise Grove Patterson, 61 Vista Bonita street, Flintridge, but immediately after the first insertion the property was sold to C. E. Sues, a Los Angeles automobile dealer. The property is rated as among the finest in the foothills, and permits a view of the surrounding towns and clear to the ocean.

Another sale that Mr. Lucas negotiated was that of the modern six-room home at 2075 Chilton street, west of Miradero, north of Glendale. This was sold to G. W. Paine, a Chicago insurance man, who is now preparing to occupy the house, and who will employ a landscape gardener to fix the large site on which the house stands.

Two thousand dwellings each consisting of two rooms and bath, are to be built in Glasgow slums to take the place of the present old and unsanitary buildings.
